"ACKNOWLEDGEMENT"

As the end of another year draws to a close, we the Senior Class of "1973," are about to graduate, not only from our school, but also into the business and technical world that awaits the skills that have been passed into our keeping.

We are the future builders of America. We base then our theme on Construction not only of the building around us, but on the students mental and physical capabilities that will build a new future in which we may contribute for all to share.

JOSEPH S. UMOWSKI
PRINCIPAL

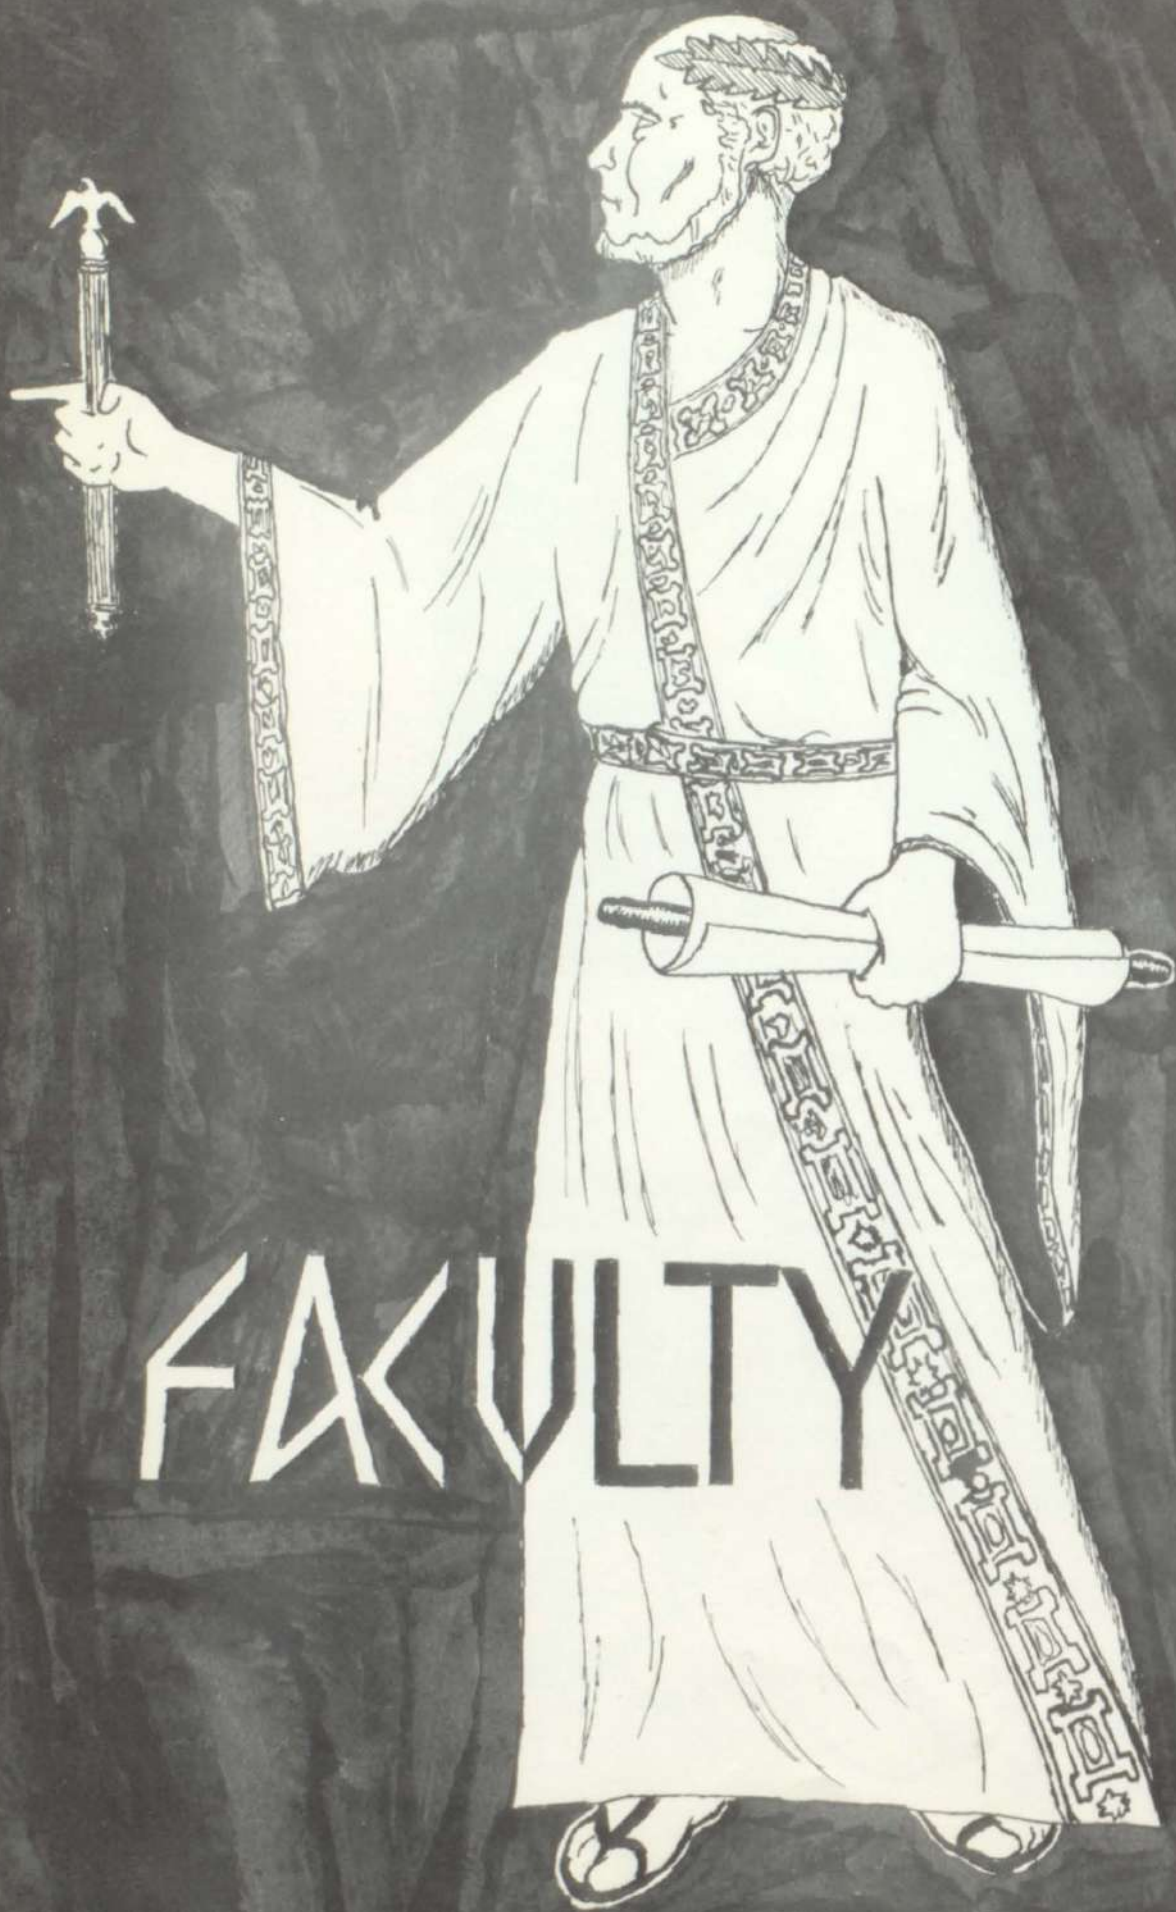

The place of Vocational and Technical training has always been an important one, but never in the past has it enjoyed the prestige it possesses today. The need for technically trained personnel is evident in the production of hardware needed to keep pace with our technological advances.

Those who failed to take advantage of our facilities and opportunities now look with a twinge of genuine respect and envy at those of you who have succeeded. For over forty years this school sent forth its graduates, and we the staff are proud of their successes in industry and the professions. You are now ready to follow in their footsteps and make your own mark.

The years pass swiftly and the time of parting is at hand. Your high school years are over and your future in industry or future education is bright. After four years under a capable faculty and enriched with knowledge and skills, you are destined to succeed.

With Best Wishes

We, the members of the Class of 1973, wish to dedicate our yearbook to Charles Basley in this his final year of teaching at Bloomfield Tech.

If in our lifetime, we meet and know an outstanding human being we are truly fortunate. We, in our estimation, as well as that of former graduates, feel Charles Basley may well set the criteria which others may well emulate.

TODAY'S ARMY A MEANINGFUL ALTERNATIVE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Today's high school graduates have several alternatives. They can go on to college. They can try to get a job. They can postpone making a decision or they can consider the army as a meaningful alternative.

Not all young men and women are ready or able to go on to college now. Some may not be sure about the profession they want. Others may feel they are not yet mature enough to take full advantage of all that college offers. Many find they simply cannot afford it. Many may want to get a job now.

When it comes to jobs, the good ones go to those with skill and experience. Jobs available to the unskilled, like bagging groceries, messenger work, or check-out clerk, are hardly career opportunities.

And postponing decisions doesn't get anyone anywhere. What about today's Army. As with grammar school, high school or college, today's Army can be a rewarding preparatory phase in a young person's life, preparing him for a responsible role in society.

For more detailed information call Al Harvin at 783-5254 or stop by the U.S. Army Recruiting Station located at the Belclair Lanes Bowling Alley in Montclair, 691 Bloomfield Ave., Montclair, N. J.
