IT'S TIME TO GO

We had our fun
We wrote on walls,
We shared our gossip
in the halls.

We argued over friendship,
We argued over boys,
We argued over silly things
like little babies over toys.

After all we went through,
After all we've done,
We're receiving our diploma
after four years of fun.

With all this feeling
we did not show,
Tell us why
we hate to go!

Dear Graduates,

Communication. The most critical aspect of getting one person's thoughts across to someone else with the same meaning which was intended.

See how difficult it is? Even my definition is confusing. There are a few suggestions I would like to make to you as you begin a new phase in your life.

First, don't believe rumors—especially whispered rumors.

Second, check for yourself when something could affect your future.

Third, get the answer from the person who knows, not someone who is guessing.

Finally, believe the best about everyone, not the worst.

You will only make more friends and keep the ones you have if you look for what is good.

Like the man says, "Check it out."

To The Graduates:
Congratulations

The four years you have spent with us should start you on your life's road to learning. Not always in a formal sense, but constantly with personal growth and self realization.

My sincere thanks and appreciation to each of you for the honor and privilege of working with you.

Best of Luck

When the emancipated woman slid into the new styles of the decade, it was obvious to admiring males she was freeing herself of more than social restraints. Gone was the tight corset that had pinched in her waist until she could barely breathe. Now, if her figure tended to spread out, then so be it. But by 1914 (right), haute couture had imposed some new strictures, and skirts had become so tight that walking was all but impossible.

"Never in history were the modes so abhorrently indecent as they are today," scolded one clergyman in 1913—needlessly. For while ladies' skirts were shorter, high-buttoned shoes often concealed ankles. And though skirts were sometimes transparent, they disclosed only patterned linings. Such beguiling sensuality did not last. After the war, the styles of 1920 (right) were about as sexy as the Salvation Army uniforms they tried to copy.

CHRISTMAS TIME

"OUR MEMORIES"

"Eighty" is a year that will not be forgotten. It is a time of great change, of turmoil, of joy and significant importance. We, the future generation, look forward to being independent and thinking of our future life and its rewards and mistakes.

"Eighty" is the year when the hand we hold lets go and the people we depend so much on tell us to rely on our own judgement. This is the time for choosing our destination, for relinquishing that hold on friends, relatives, and peers as our support and becoming dependent on ourselves.

"Eighty" is also a year when those memories of friendship, togetherness and fun times seem to be so precious, even though the time is here to let them go. But there are memories deep within our minds that will never be forgotten. Those wonderful times we will never recapture or never lose; for they are our link to the past and stored for the future.

"Eighty" is the year when we, the leaders, followers, changers, and doers of tomorrow set our minds to higher achievements and look beyond our text books for the answers.

As we, the graduates, move our tassels from right to left and are presented as the "Class of Eighty", then is the time for you, the people, parents and friends, to know that we are prepared and willing to take on the responsibilities of the future generation.

As we step into our new responsibilities we will remember the times of our school life and know that it is hard to say, "Goodbye to Yesterday".

GUESS WHO

IF YOU THINK THIS YEARBOOK IS WACKY . . .
TAKE A LOOK AT THE STAFF

Here are Shawn, Hermina, Terrisena, Jo Ann, Martha, Francine, Gloria, and Lupe attending the 1st Annual Clam Bake & Fish Fry at Seaside Heights.

Here are Barbara, Marcella, Phyllis, Lori Ann, Maria, Janette, Robin, Lillian, Chris, Joan, and Jackie putting on the latest fashions and going out to celebrate because the yearbook is finished.

Janine & Joette jump for joy and put on their dancing shoes when they heard the yearbook was completed.

Marlene knocking on doors yelling "We did it. The yearbook is finally finished."

Marianne, Lupe, & Kitty ran right out to buy some new clothes to help celebrate finishing the yearbook.

JUNE GRADS

CLERICAL

Your first job shouldn't make you feel like a Freshman all over again...

You've spent four years acquiring experience and skills — now bring them to a company where you can make the most of them! MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE is a progressive company that's been growing for 135 years. Every year, we recruit promising June grads — so we've had plenty of practice at training young people for meaningful careers.

This year, we have excellent openings in all these areas:

- General Clerical
- Typists
- Stenographers
- Secretaries
- Calculators
- And More!

At Mutual Benefit Life, we value your enthusiasm and encourage it! We'll train you right on the job — and as you progress, we'll keep you posted on new and better jobs opening up. You can depend on it: we really do promote from within!

SEE US NOW AND SET
DATE —

Begin right after graduation or take a little "time out." Once here, you'll earn a good salary with outstanding benefits including 100% tuition assistance — and enjoy extras like an excellent company cafeteria and parking garage (we're close to all transportation, too). Get your future off to a great start — come in and see us soon — after school or on a day off! Or, call our Personnel Department between 9 AM and 4 PM at 481-7130 to schedule an appointment.

You'll remember your first job for the rest of your life! Make it a good one at . . .
